The Stock of the California National Crude

Oil Company advances to 50 cents

per Share on May 28

THOSE stockholders who have purchased stock and those who are about to purchase at 40c per share, are about to realize 25 per cent on their investment already, as the stock goes to 50 cents this coming week. And this isn't the first advance either. There is no doubt in our minds that you will see this stock soaring way up in dollars soon, and when you do, we know you will wish that you had a larger block. We would advise all who can possibly do so to purchase before the end of the week and take advantage of the rise.

For making big money, there is nothing in the investment world today that will bear comparison for a moment with the opportunities afforded by California oil stocks.

Dozens and scores of these stocks are selling today for many times the price at which they were originally placed on the market.

In the advances of the past year many of them have yielded profits of several hundred per cent to investors.

In production and earnings the oil wells have distanced the gold mines.

Thousands of people enjoying a competence today owe their good fortune to modest investments in California oil.

By still other thousands the success of the past will be duplicated during the present year.

Now, don't be a pessimist and say that this is impossible. Facts are facts, and if you only take the trouble to look into matters, you will find that this is true.

The writer can assure a beautiful article some time ago entitled "The Optimist versus the Pessimist." Read it. It won't hurt you.

The Optimist Versus The Pessimist

"The optimist lives under a clear sky, the pessimist lives in a fog. The pessimist is confused; he hardly knows where to go, what to do or how to act; the optimist is at ease with the harmonies of nature and discerns distinctly the upward path that lies before him. The pessimist hesitates and loses both time and opportunity; the optimist makes the best use of everything and builds himself up steadily and surely, until all adversity is overcome and the object is realized. The pessimist curses his misfortune and concentrates his whole attention upon failure; the optimist gives all his thought and power to the attainment of success, and grows his faculties and forces to the highest points of efficiency. The pessimist waits for better times, and expects to buy as well as wait; the optimist goes to work with the best that is at hand now, and proceeds to create better times.

The optimist has inspiration to everybody; the pessimist is a wet blanket. The pessimist pours cold water on the fire of his own ability;

the optimist adds fuel to these fires. The pessimist tries his mind, to everything that is before him; the optimist lives, thinks and works with everything that is determined to pass.

The pessimist places a damper on everything; the optimist gives life, fire and go to everything. The pessimist repels everything; the optimist attracts everything. The pessimist fights the wrong; the optimist works to increase the power of the right. The optimist is a building force; the pessimist is always an obstacle in the way of progress. The pessimist lives in a dark, noisy, impulsive world; the optimist lives in that mental sunshine that makes all things grow."

Do you realize how true all this is? Don't you appreciate that the optimist is the successful man? The optimist is the man who invests for he believes some good will come from such an investment, and as every real fortune that ever was made resulted from investment, it is optimistic that makes success.

The pessimist is the man who looks with suspicion upon all investment opportunities, and while he is lamenting and hawking and failing to act, an optimist groups the opportunity, makes his investment, and gets his return in time.

It required a generous supply of optimism for men to go ahead and develop what is today the greatest wealth producer in the world—California Oil. It could, but their optimism has been real.

Allen O. Nichols, editor of the "Oil Industry," gives a few pertinent facts in a recent issue of one of the leading daily papers, and he writes regarding this wonderful Oil Industry:

"Only a half century old the oil industry in the United States has already exported more than $1,000,000,000 worth of the refined material. In other words, in fifty years the total amount received for refined oil exported has been greater than the value of the entire production of gold in the United States since Columbus discovered America. Since 1900, the year in which Italy small coals were sent to France as an experimental shipment, the amount exported has been greater in value than the production of gold in the entire world for the same period. Within the memory of living man the output has grown to a great industry that gives employment to 75,000 men in the fields and refineries and whose annual payroll amounts to millions of dollars.

The spring tide has run along Oil creek has given place to modern machinery, operated by carefully trained men. The oil trains that haul oil in barrels over roads unworthy of the same have been succeeded by thousands of miles of steel pipe lines, great trains of oil tanks and the modern carrying ships, whose capacity in some cases is over 80,000 barrels.

Everything that coal has done for the east, crude oil is doing for California, and since its general use, less than two years ago, ways and means have been devised to use crude oil in California, the same as coal is used in other parts of the United States, and the public at large have shown their appreciation of its value by the adoption of crude oil wherever fuel is needed. As a result of this stream of "paid" oil distributed in California to holders of California Oil Company stocks, which amounts to many millions of dollars per year.

W. W. Hackett, one of the most prominent consulting engineers and geologists in this country, is a recent visitor to a California Oil Company, had the following to say about California oil lands:

"There is no place in the world where the oil resources are so simply and thoroughly saturated as in California. This makes California oil wells big producers and long lived." He then goes on and cites instances where even on large sections, such as 120 acres, the production today has been as high as 50,000 barrels per acre, and the best producing heavily.

The investor with sufficient judgment to use these great possibilities and the optimism, which goes to make up this judgment, will be literally swept to fortune on the great flood of oil-rich flows through the proven fields of California. The optimism and courage of the pioneer oil men of California have made them multimillionaires. They learned the truth of that great saying: "One good investment is worth a lifetime of labor." What optimism and oil have done for others they will do for you, for really only the surface of the possibilities of California oil have been scraped. There are today numerous new companies just starting to develop their land, in which stock can be bought at extremely low figures. Within two years we will undoubtedly find the stock of the great majority of these companies listed on the stock exchange, and paying the same kind of generous dividends that so many of the other companies are now paying after perhaps only two years of operation.

All this is possibly interesting reading, and we trust that truths given here will sink deeply into the hearts of our readers, and that they will start on the comparatively easy road to making money by having the optimism and courage to make investment in some good California oil stock."

NOW

We have shown that you should be an optimist, at least as far as California oil is concerned. Now, you being an optimist, we will tell about one of the companies that will soon stand "if not at the head, at least very near the head of the California Oil Producing companies, and that is the California National Crude Oil Company. This Company has purchased thousands of acres of land in the Coalina Oil District, which is recognized as the largest producing oil district in California. It is selling stock for the development of the same. The par value of this stock is one dollar, and the present purchase price is 40 cents. It is only a question of a short time until the stock will be selling at par. We advise the early purchase at 40 cents. Remember this stock goes to 50 cents on the 28th of May and not a share can be bought for less after that date. Now don't hesitate. Buy now, and do so quick.

Names of those on Trip

Half a hundred members of the Union League of Philadelphia spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday here and made things merry wherever they went. It was the annual trip of the members of the Philadelphia club to this place.

The special train of Pullmans arrived about one o'clock Saturday afternoon and the trip over the First Day's Fight was soon afterward, Captain Long being the guide, in the evening the larger proportion went to the flag circus and made things lively. Two dignified gentlemen ran a race around the entire tent for a wager of a dollar each, the first to finish

Others spent the evening at other places in town and the visitors were a merry crowd. Sunday morning the remainder of the field was visited and

EIGHT HUNDRED BULLETS FOUND

My Find of Bullets Made along Tanytown Road where Work on
New Avenue has been Started.
Belonged to Penna. Reserves.

While searching for the new avenue along the Tanytown road on Friday afternoon workers unearthed almost eight hundred and fifty bullets
belonging to the Pennsylvania Reserve who were stationed at that place at the time of the battle. The bullets were found some distance from Maine's Headquarters.

The plough was turning up the road
at a lively rate when the bullets were found. A barrel wound was made
and some of the bullets were found
and some of the bullets were found.

The find is the first job that had been done here for some time and the relief was eagerly picked up by the men working on the road. The men had half a barrel full of the bullets they had found. The find is of great value to the soldiers.

MARTIN IS UNDECIDED

Waynesboro Herald.—
Senator William A. Martin has decided whether he will permit his name to remain on the Democratic pri-

GETTYSBURG BULLET

"Gettysburg Post and Press."—
A comprehensive little booklet published by the Western Maryland Railroad Company, is a handsome little booklet showing in the illustrations
a view of the battle of Gettysburg
and one of the new vestibule trains of the road. The booklet contains an introductory, a brief review
of the famous conflict, detailed accounts of the first, second and third days again a descriptive article on the road of Gettysburg and a list of wartime and is now, in the opinion of the publisher, a most valuable booklet.

The booklet is beautifully illustrated
with full-toned views of many of the most important monuments placed in the battle field. There is also a map of the battle field. The booklet is a most valuable book-let.
